It was the hardest practice of the week, and the coaches kept the men working until dark against the scrubs, who used the Michigan formations. The entire varsity eleven was in the line-up, and many of the substitutes also got into the scrimmages.

At the close of the afternoon's work the coaches announced themselves as well satisfied with the condition of the team.

CAMBRIDGE, November 4.—The practice to-day at the stadium was practically the same as yesterday. The Harvard players being drilled in signals and a light workout without the scrubs.

The freshmen were taken to task by the line coaches, and each man received a lesson in coaching. The right side of the line was particularly strong, and the left and the coaches left wing on a par with the right wing. The varsity was in the line-up to practice before their game in Princeton to-morrow.

With Penfield in the game, the teams average will take a boost of 20 per cent. The varsity is badly needed on the right wing, but the freshmen are being guarded by a big responsibility on Trumbull's shoulders. Trumbull was the man that the coaches were looking for in the game.

Last year the Dartmouth-Columbia game was staged there and it drew a big crowd. Both had been beaten by a big crowd. Both had been beaten by a big crowd.

ORGANIZED BASEBALL HAS HARD PROPOSITION

Some Magnates Want Peace; Others, the Majority, Willing to Fight Feds a While Longer.

MAY SETTLE BY NEXT YEAR

Independents Hold Whipland, and Are Making Plans for Season of 1915—Said to Have Signed Number of Big Stars.

Peace in the baseball world is just about one year distant. Both sides yearn for peace. They want peace right now. But at this time it is only a question of time before they will have organized baseball.
